Little attention has been paid to the very properties of spatial entities, their status in linguistic descriptions, and their implications for spatial cognition and its development in children. This topic is at the center of this book, that opens a new field by sketching some major theoretical and methodological directions for future research on spatial entities. Brought together linguistic descriptions of spatial systems, formal accounts of linguistic data, and experimental findings from psycholinguistic studies, all couched within a wide cross-linguistic perspective. Such an interdisciplinary approach provides a rich overview of the many questions that remain unanswered in relation to spatial entities, while also throwing a new light on previous research focusing on related topics concerning space and/or the relation between language and cognition. L'infailibilité papale prise en flagrant délit de mensonge, ou le dogme de l'immaculée conception cité et condamné Gallimard Education This monograph offers the first in-depth lexical and semantic analysis of motion verbs in their development from Latin to nine Romance languages — Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, Romanian, Catalan, Occitan, Sardinian, and Raeto-Romance — demonstrating that the patterns of innovation and continuity attested in the data can be accounted for in cognitive linguistic terms. At the same time, the study illustrates how the insights gained from Latin and Romance historical data have profound implications for the cognitive approaches to language — in particular, for Leonard Talmy's motion-framing typology and George Lakoff and Mark Johnson's conceptual metaphor theory. The book should appeal to scholars interested in historical Romance linguistics, cognitive linguistics, and lexical change. Correspondance de Napoléon Ier: 1 décembre 1806-31 mars 1807 Guillaume

PRERRIE

This collection of essays considers the political, social, literary and artistic impact of the pervasive dichotomy of truth and lies in the context of French society and culture. A fundamental element of our social existence, the notion of le mensonge underpins how we participate in and respond to all aspects of society, from the political process to the capacity of art, literature and other aesthetic forms to fulfill a representative function. This book explores the ways in which French society and culture is regulated by the overriding oppositional structure of truth and lies, and the impact this has on both collective and individual existence. The theme brings together research from diverse disciplines of the Humanities, from political science to literature, film, music and visual arts, in a work that will be of great relevance to a wide range of students and researchers alike. As such, the theme serves as a means of gaining an insight into the range and scope of research currently being conducted in French studies. The book will be useful as a support text for a range of academic courses including those in the fields of cultural studies, literary studies, political studies and sociology. On a larger scale, it posits the theme's potential to develop as an independent area of study, and offers a starting point for future academic study devoted to the idea of le mensonge.

Le Trésor le plus fabuleux doit avoir la clef la plus repoussante, pour que nul homme ne se doute de la valeur du Trésor à la seule vue de sa clef. Il en est de même pour cette femme envoûtante et mystérieuse que l'on nomme Trésor. Pour avoir droit à ses draps, il faut avoir la clef : une autre femme qu'elle, à aimer. Ce troisième récit, "Trésor féline", est centré sur Trésor elle-même ; on y saura tout sur elle, du laid au moins beau en passant par le pire. Trésor est un éternel présent, un cadeau mélangeant passé et futur dans un pot pourri de narration, d'enquêtes de détective ou d'inspecteur, d'études d'historien ou d'écrivain, de questions et, parfois, de réponses... pour tenter de la comprendre. -

Trois récits indépendants présentant des points de vue différents de la même histoire, pouvant être lus dans n'importe quel ordre : - Un récit pour

 Un deuxième

 à d'autres, - Un troisième

 tous et dans
